

environmentally responsible packaging

More and more Fish & Chip Shops are realising that the packaging they use in their shop directly reflects their image!
The right packaging presents the right image!

"bio-boxes" were introduced to provide Fish & Chip Shops with the opportunity to use an environmentally responsible food box for fried food and one that would maintain the condition of the product from the shop to the customers' home.

Henry Colbeck Limited, working with Mr. Price of Westmoreland Fisheries, Skipton along with the Campaign for the Protection of Rural England, has publicised the environmental benefits of using "bio-boxes" particularly in National Parks and areas of Outstanding Beauty.

We were delighted to receive a Certificate of Commendation for promoting "bio-boxes" signed by Baroness Lockwood and Hilary Fenten.

If you want to show YOUR customers that you care about the environment then take a look at "bio-boxes".

above:
Mr. Price of Westmoreland
Fisheries, Skipton.

right:
The Certificate of Commendation

