A guide to our Products & Services

More Than Just a Supplier!

Welcome

Thanks for choosing to read our 2020/2021 Products & Services Guide and a very warm welcome to Henry Colbeck, our family-owned specialist wholesale supplier to Fish & Chip Shops, Takeaways, Fish & Chip Restaurants and the Fast Food Market

My Great Grandfather Henry Colbeck established the business 126 years ago in Newcastle upon Tyne and my Father, Bill Colbeck (our Chairman) opened a Scottish depot in Coatbridge, Lanarkshire 21 years ago. Working with a talented Board of Directors and a dedicated team of 150 employees, my wife Georgina and I are committed to continuing the standards and ethos of the company into the future and working with our customers, suppliers and industry bodies to champion the Nation's Favourite – Fish & Chips.

Diversity in the 'food to go' market, increasing customer and consumer sophistication and environmental awareness, have all seen our business evolve and become the leading innovator in the Fish & Chip Market. Indeed, one of our key business aims is to develop new products and ideas to help our customers stay ahead of the competition and provide you with the best solutions to meet the needs of your business.

We have been at the forefront of developing environmentally-aware corrugated packaging and bio-packaging and have driven home the Lite-BITE® message to offer a wider choice of portion sizes to satisfy all appetites and to help the Fish & Chip sector compete in the 'food to go' marketplace, especially during lunchtime. There have been significant advances in the way Frozen At Sea fish is caught, sized and graded to deliver product consistency and we are pleased to be chosen business partners with fish suppliers Rammi and Norebo, amongst others. We are always looking for ways to help you grow your business.

Behind the scenes we continue our strategy of inward investment into our business to build for the future and to give both our valued customers and employees reassurance that we are focussed on quality and the process of continuous improvement. We collect and recycle used cooking oil as part of our service. This means that if you choose to buy your oils and fats from us and we collect the used oils and fats, we will process and recycle them, which makes you part of an environmentally virtuous circle of product recycling from 'cradle to cradle' – a great news story to promote to your customers!

We pride ourselves in being 'More Than Just A Supplier' and this guide has been put together to provide you with a comprehensive guide to the products we sell, to give you an insight into our company and to reassure you that Henry Colbeck is the business partner that you can trust. I hope you enjoy browsing through this brochure and that you find what you are looking for – if not then don't hesitate to call us.

If you are an existing customer, I'd like to thank you for choosing Henry Colbeck to be your trusted business partner. If you are new to the company, I hope you will choose us and we look forward to welcoming you into the family.

Thank you for your interest in Henry Colbeck – we wouldn't be in business without you!

Lite-BITE® Hits the Headlines

In February 2019 we were delighted that our innovative Lite BITE concept hit the headlines in the National and Local media, bringing awareness that the Fish & Chip sector is proactively responding to Government health concerns and offering customers smaller portion options.

The article below was a small part of a national conversation about how Fish & Chip shops are offering customer choice and this positive news can only lead to more customers visiting your shop.

The following article has been taken directly from The Daily Mail – 7th February 2019.

'Oh my COD! Cutting down fish and chips to just 600 CALORIES could combat obesity crisis as study shows customers enjoy the smaller portions.

- Takeaway shops are the latest to face backlash over fuelling over-eating
- Researchers cut 1,000 calories from top takeaway across chippies in England
- Results showed up to 40 per cent said they would consider smaller portions

Fish and chips can be enjoyed without your waistline taking a battering, a study found.

Experts believe offering smaller versions of our favourite take-away meals could be key to reducing levels of obesity. Researchers at Newcastle University found that shrinking portions can drastically reduce calorie intake while also keeping customers happy. They teamed up with a Henry Colbeck (a fish and chip supplier) to develop a portion with around 600 calories - 1,000 less than a traditional serving and in line with national guidelines for mealtimes. These were then offered at a dozen fish and chip shops in the North-East alongside their normal menus.AdChoices

Takeaway owners were given a three-hour briefing on portion sizes and how market research had shown many customers wanted to be more health conscious and have smaller meals. They were supplied with promotional posters and business incentives of free packaging and customer loyalty points.

The meal boxes, called Lite-BITE, consisted of a 5oz (142g) fish and 5oz of chips, fried in vegetable oil and typically cost customers about £4 - around £1.60 less than the full-size versions.

The study found one in five people bought the smaller alternatives while four in ten said they would consider scaling down. Secret-shoppers, customer surveys and interviews indicated that customers were pleased with the smaller portions and takeaway owners were happy to sell them.

Public Health England wants adults to eat no more than 400 calories for breakfast, 600 for lunch and 600 for dinner. But the rising number of fast food outlets has been blamed for fuelling the obesity crisis, with two thirds of adults and one in three children now overweight or obese.

Lead author Louis Goffe said: 'The independent takeaway sector is one of the most challenging food sectors to work with to make changes. This research emphasises the importance of working with wholesale suppliers, who have a strong relationship with traders, to improve the health benefits of hot food takeaways. The sales show that there is a demand for smaller portion meals and we hope this will act as a template for others in the fast-food sector to follow.'

The Lite-BITE® allows customers to choose a portion-controlled meal while still enjoying the nation's favourite takeaway.

We buy your Used Cooking Oil!

TURNING USED COOKING OIL INTO GREEN ENERGY

As a company we have been processing and packing edible oil since 1893.

In 2006 we started to collect our customers' Used Cooking Oil (UCO) as an additional service in the years following the BSE outbreak which caused the Government to stop farmers from feeding waste foods such as UCO to farm animals. This situation created a UCO disposal problem for our customers and our new service created the perfect solution. Things have certainly changed, and UCO is now regarded as a vital source of Green Energy. The energy created from UCO produces very low levels of CO_2, to the benefit of our attempts to reduce Global Warming.

To make Green Energy, the UCO must be processed and cleaned, and as our collected volumes have grown, this increase has allowed us to make the commercial investment in our own UCO Recycling Plant where we now process all UCO that we collect.

Before work began on the plant, we spent a considerable amount of time and effort looking at various UCO processing methods across the UK and Europe and in Europe many of the plants in no way met the environmental and hygiene standards that, as a company, we would accept! However, we did find a processor who processes waste organic material, including UCO, cleanly and hygienically and knew we could realise our vision by working with the manufacturer of their processing plant.

We made several visits to their factory to discuss our needs until we were satisfied that the plant that they proposed would give us what we wanted – a clean and hygienic processing system.

It took us three years of intense activity and refinements to develop a processing system that fits our purpose and our newly built Recycling Plant was brought into operation in March 2018. It operates to strict Environmental Permitting regulations and we are working to ISO 14001 standards.

We source and sell 'fresh' oils and fats, collect UCO and now process it. This is known environmentally as a 'cradle to cradle' approach and you and your UCO are part of this valuable, virtuous circle.

How Green Is That!

WASTE

THE RECYCLING PROCESS

The process starts with Fatboxxes full of solid UCO being placed in our 'warm room' where the UCO is melted. After this, the melted UCO is vacuum pumped through a series of filters which extracts unwanted elements such as fine particles of food. The filtered UCO is then pumped through a Heat Exchanger, where the temperature of the UCO is raised before it is released into the settlement tank.

In this tank the constituent parts of the UCO separate out. The oil floats on top of the fine food particulate which, in turn, floats on top of the water that has separated out of the oil. This process takes about 36 hours and the longer we allow the UCO to settle, the more complete the separation.

After the separation process the UCO only contains 1% of water. The separated water and food particles at the bottom of the tank are pumped off for use in an Anaerobic Digestion plant.

The processed UCO is collected by tanker for use either to generate electricity or to process into bio diesel. In the UK it is stipulated that diesel fuel sold at the pump must contain a minimum 4% Bio fuel.

Our Recycling Plant has created new jobs and we see this as a very positive investment in the local economy, the environment and the fight against Global warming – as well as the future of Henry Colbeck Limited.

Fish Matters!

Henry Colbeck is a significant supplier of Frozen-at-Sea Fish and IQF Fish to the Fish & Chip Market in the U.K.

Our direct commercial links with many deep-sea trawler companies allow us to offer a wide range of fish sourced from the sustainable fishing grounds of the North Atlantic and Barents Seas. The suppliers we work with are all members of the MSC (Marine Stewardship Council) and/or the Icelandic Responsible Fisheries scheme. In addition, Henry Colbeck is MSC Certified. The purpose of these schemes is to promote sustainable fishing and to safeguard seafood supplies for future generations.

The Sustainability of FAS Fish Stocks

FAS Fish are caught by large modern vessels operating in carefully-managed fishing grounds in the Arctic Seas around Iceland and the Barents Sea around Norway and Russia.

Stringent, science-based and strictly enforced regulations have ensured good management of cod and haddock stocks in these waters. Some of these stocks are in the best condition recorded, with records dating back 70 years!

Glacialis

Glacialis cod and haddock are harvested in the icy Arctic waters of the Barents Sea and Norwegian Sea. This huge area with strong fishing stocks is part of both the Norwegian and Russian exclusive economic zones.

Vessels that fish for the Glacialis brand ensure that they;

1. Fish only at sustainable levels
2. Work to minimise the impact they have on the fisheries' ecosystems
3. Meet all local, national and international laws

RAMMI

Rammi make their catches in the clean cold waters of the North Atlantic where fishing is carefully regulated by a quota system.

Management of the fishing grounds around Iceland is based on allocating a fixed share of the permitted catch of the various species to each vessel. All decisions are based on scientific criteria and the careful work of the Marine Research Institute. Protection of the fish in Iceland's fishing grounds is based on three main methods;

1. Catch regulations which are developed for each utilizable fish stock. This involves deciding yearly how large a proportion of the stocks may be allocated for fishing.
2. Regulations controlling the fishing gear. Emphasis is placed on the efficacy of the equipment used, which means that effort is made to fish only those species and sizes that are required.
3. Protection and closing of specific areas to safeguard spawning or juvenile fish.

The Solberg Super Trawler

Built on five levels, The Solberg super trawler is fitted out with the most advanced filleting, cutting, freezing and packing equipment designed to supply fillets to the highest possible standards. It has its own electrical generator, a system to produce fresh water and a cold store with a capacity for 900 tonnes of packed product.

This impressive trawler supplies us exclusively, as a member of The Q Partnership, with RAMMI oCeanReserve and oCeanPremium Skinless & Boneless fillets of tightly graded Cod and Haddock packed in 2x10kg.Plus Pin-Bone in, standard gradings.

oCeanPremium and oCeanReserve Skinless & Boneless, Tightly-Graded Cod & Haddock

RAMMI oCeanPremium is the traditional fillet. RAMMI oCeanReserve is the new water cut fillet production.

The Solberg revolutionary production technology enables the crew to prepare and cut fillets of Cod and Haddock to exact grades from larger fish using water jets to create RAMMI oCeanReserve fillet. RAMMI oCeanPremium and oCeanReserve are available in 4-6oz, 6-8oz, 8-10oz, 10-12oz and 12-16oz.

The Benefits of Frozen-at-Sea (FAS) Fish

FAS Fish are caught, processed and quick frozen on the trawler. Once on board, each fish is filleted, graded, packaged and carefully frozen within five to six hours. Some of the newer trawlers can process within two hours!

The FAS method of processing means that all nutrients, freshness, goodness and taste are retained without compromising quality.

1. As a means of long-term preservation and storage, it greatly extends the shelf-life.
2. The stocks are well-managed, readily available and are natural wild rather than farmed.
3. There is minimal waste as you only have to defrost the fish as and when you need it.

How to Thaw Frozen-at-Sea (FAS) Fish

FAS Fish should be thawed in a way that maintains the characteristic properties of the product. Key guidelines are;

1. Ensure product, water and air temperature are monitored throughout thawing cycle.
2. Thaw in a refrigerator.
3. Product temperature should be kept close to the temperature of melting ice i.e. as close to zero degrees centigrade as possible.
4. Allow fish temperature to equalise after thawing as various parts of the product will be at different temperatures.
5. Ensure the timescale is appropriate for thawing the fish. Do not try to thaw so quickly that product safety and quality is compromised. Ensure thawed fish remains at chilled temperatures (as close to zero degrees centigrade as possible).
6. Do not fry under-thawed product.
7. Do not use water to thaw Frozen-at-Sea (FAS) Fish.

Are your profits walking out of the door?

Do you know how many portions of chips you could be getting out of a bag of potatoes and how much profit you could be losing by not implementing better portion control?

We recommend a 2 step approach - that you consider reducing the standard size of the chip portions that you serve and that you impose tight control on the size of those portions.

The National Federation of Fish Friers (NFFF) has worked tirelessly over the years to produce facts and figures about this subject and about how offering a choice of portion sizes, not only means reducing food wastage - a hot topic right now – but also means that you aren't just watching your profit walk out of the door and into the bin.

If you have ever experienced customers asking for two fish and one portion of chips, then it can be a sign that you are giving away too many chips!

There are some of your customers that will request big portions, so you'll probably want to continue offering them at the appropriate price, but for the sake of your profit and your customer offering, consider giving your other customers a choice of portion sizes.

Lite-BITE®

We developed the Lite-BITE concept and packaging to provide our customers with the ability to serve a more tightly controlled portion of Fish & Chips and to attract customers who are normally put-off by larger portion sizes.

Only products that meet the stringent set of criteria can carry a NEODA Approved Guarantee of Confidence logo which ensures that they can be purchased with complete confidence.

What does this mean for YOU?

Henry Colbeck is a member of NEODA. The oils and fats that we distribute to you display the "NEODA Approved" logo which is a guarantee that;

- the weight is accurate
- the labelling is clear and precise
- the contents are exactly as described on the ingredient panel

INCREASE YOUR SALES!

It's written in the cards!

Debit card payments have overtaken cash as the most popular form of payment in the UK for the first time, according to banking industry figures. If you don't offer card payments, you'll almost certainly be missing out on valuable sales

Did you know?

- Debit cards were used 13.2bn times last year, up 14%, whilst cash transactions fell by 15%, according to UK Finance, the UK banking and financial services sector trade body.
- Contactless card use almost doubled to 5.6bn transactions.
- Contactless is more popular than UK chip and pin transactions – payments technology company Worldpay.
- 63% of people in the UK now use contactless payments.
- 3.4m people almost never use cash and rely on cards.

What does this mean for your business and what are the benefits of offering card payment?

More customers Accepting any card payment, whether it's contactless or chip and pin, will increase your customer base. You could be losing potential sales where customers pass you by on impulse to choose another outlet that accepts cards. More customers mean more sales!

Remain competitive Your competitors are already accepting cards! Offering the same service will help you to remain competitive and profitable.

More sales Cards encourage impulse buying. Customers want to complete their purchases quickly and easily without having to run to a cash point machine. Studies have proven that customers spend more when they're paying by card, especially when it comes to impulse purchases.

FREE Posters Available

Customer Service Your customers want to choose the method of payment that's most convenient and beneficial for them. Cards are not only easy, but can also offer points, mileage or rewards that encourage customers to use them for as many purchases as possible.

If you're offering card payments, make sure your customers and potential customers know about! Ask your sales contact for one of our FREE OF CHARGE posters.

We are ISO 9001 accredited.

Good news for you and your customers!

The ISO accreditation is only awarded to companies that demonstrate that they are developing, documenting and implementing their Quality Management System. This accreditation is achieved by successfully completing regular audits by an independent third-party registrar.

Every employee in every department is engaged in meeting our standards and achieving a process of continual improvement. We have a team of Internal Auditors that audit every department on an ongoing basis to make sure that this process is happening. Twice a year qualified External Auditors come in to check that we are doing what we say we will do.

Why is our accreditation good for you?

- You can be reassured that we buy from reliable suppliers and thoroughly check their credentials.
- We hold all current product specifications on file and keep them updated.
- We have controls in place regarding best before dates and damaged goods, so your goods arrive in premium condition.
- We carry out a minimum of two dummy product recalls every year to ensure our teams are well versed in the event of any official product recalls
- Working in tandem with our ISO quality objectives, we adhere to and follow the principles of HACCP (Hazard Analysis & Critical Control Points).
  This system enables us to identify specific hazards and allow the correct controls to be applied to ensure the safety of the food we sell.
- Our 'frozen chain' is important to us and we protect our frozen goods through implementing high standards. Our freezer equipment is alarmed in case of any break downs and we have back-up generators in case of power cuts in our cold stores. We also monitor all vehicle fridges 24/7 and provide a temperature print out at the delivery point.

ISO accreditation means that you can reassure your customers, EHO and Trading Standards that your supplier is ISO accredited. ISO is a mark of quality that you can rely on.

We are working to the requirements of ISO 14001 – the Environmental Standard

In 2018 we opened our Used Cooking Oil Recycling Plant in Gateshead and a key condition was to prove that we were working to the requirements of the ISO 14001 Environmental Standard. We have always been mindful of the potential of our environmental impact as a business, but complying to this requirement helped us to formalise and improve upon everything we do in relation to our environmental impact. We believe that good environmental management not only makes good business sense, it's also about doing the right thing.

Working with Environmental Consultants we evaluated the environmental aspects and impacts of our business and set ourselves key objectives to improve our green ways of working:

- Turning the used cooking oil that we collect into an energy source.
- Reduction of waste products and an improvement of our recycling rate.
- Development of more environmentally friendly products.
- Promotion of energy and resource conservation.
- Control of chemical substances and a reduction in the volumes we use.

To achieve these objectives, we developed an environmental management system that has seen a wide variety of targets implemented. Successes have included:

- We have over 1,000 solar panels at our depots, annually generating 200,000 KW of electricity.
- We maximise fuel consumption and minimise harmful emissions.
- We have developed Fold IT Bin It recyclable packaging to reduce waste volume.... and that's just a small example of our commitment to promoting more environmentally friendly packaging and how packaging is used.
- Marketing uses only FSC approved resources for publishing marketing materials.
- The whole company makes every effort to recycle and separate into the different waste streams.
- We hold RSPO certification, which demonstrates that we supply certified and sustainable palm oil products.
- Our Used Cooking Oil collection division is ISCC (international sustainability and carbon certificate) accredited.
- We have formalised our waste management policy so you can be confident that we only deal with accredited waste removal suppliers.

Most importantly we are now processing the used cooking oil that we collect into an energy source. We have produced a poster that you can display to tell your customers that you are part of this environmentally virtuous 'cradle to cradle' cycle.

As a family business, serving thousands of customers and employing over 150 people, we have a responsibility to reduce our environmental impact both locally to our depots and in our distribution areas - this is one of our key commitments.

We want to ensure that future generations enjoy the same quality of life that we enjoy today.

We want to ensure that future generations enjoy the same quality of life that we enjoy today.

2 Compartment Corrugated Boxes

2 Compartment Corrugated Boxes for "Pan-Perfect" Fish & Chips

Collect 1 Save & Select Point on ALL four boxes!

Two compartment boxes have increased dramatically in popularity in recent years because they provide the, virtually, perfect way to serve and to transport Fish & Chips. This makes them ideal for both takeaway and home delivery. Keeping the chips separated from the fish, but still in the same box, prevents them from sticking to the batter and causing it to become soft and soggy as it is no longer in close contact with moisture from the chips.

As well as providing the very best presentation of Fish & Chips, two compartment boxes also offer a genuine portion control management system. The two compartments provide very specific sections; one for the fish and one for the chips so serving staff can no longer pile them high and give away profits.

Filters & Gauze Lifters

Selecting the correct gauge of gauze lifter helps it to last longer.

If you use the wrong size mesh, the skimmer becomes clogged with a build-up of particles which can reduce efficiency and cause premature wear.

A medium grade 50 mesh should be used for small particles.

A fine grade 80 mesh should be used for fine particles
