Welcome to our seasonal November & December issue of What's Hot!

We hope this issue finds you and your families, teams and customers well and looking forward to what will be a unique Christmas for us all this year.

This is our November & December edition, so all offers will be running to the end of December, unless otherwise specifically stated, so please keep an eye out when you plan to order and make the most of our 'November only' deals.

The past 4 weeks has seen so many changes in the UK and how it affects us all and our industry that it's impossible to list here.

What we can say is that we're all learning and putting that knowledge to the best use to survive and thrive – #Team Fish & Chips is an amazing and resourceful industry to be part of and we're grateful.

It's the time of year when we can really demonstrate our appreciation by supporting you to redeem the points most of you will have been saving all year as part of our Save + Select Loyalty Scheme.

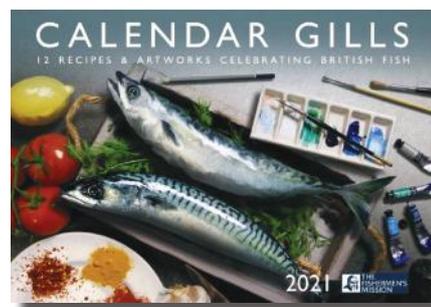

Now even more Save + Select Benefits:

It's been a tough year and we'd like to make it better for you.

So we're giving you even more choice with a new partner 'e-codes from Select', faster online redemption and an extra 10% if you redeem Henry Colbeck Credit Rewards.

See pages 4 & 5 for more details.

And remember you can redeem all of your points with one reward type or many and you can even make a donation of any size to the Fishermen's Mission too. Thank You.

FREE Fishermen's Mission Calendar worth £7.50.

Keep an eye open for the Postie in November, as we are sending you your free 2021 calendar, again this year it has been printed in conjunction with and in support of The Fishermen's Mission. This year it's even more than eye catching pictures, as each month features a unique and bespoke piece of art that corresponds with the fish used in each of the seafood recipes supplied by celebrity chef supporters including Nathan Outlaw and Tom Brown.

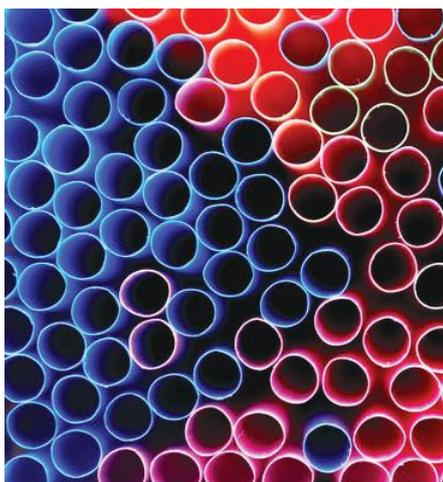

Plus - many of you have been missing the 'Order History' printed sheets that we ordinarily supply with your printed magazines – so we're enclosing updated ones in the calendar envelope too.

So in this last edition of 2020, we wish you all well and send Seasonal Greetings from Everyone at Henry Colbeck – from our family to yours!

Warmest Regards

Douglas & Georgina Colbeck

ENGLAND: SINGLE-USE PLASTIC STRAWS, COTTON BUDS AND DRINK STIRRERS BANNED FROM 1ST OCTOBER 2020.

Recent legislation has stopped manufacturers and retailers supplying these products and Local Authorities have the power to set fines for anyone who fails to comply.

If you bought the items before ..10.20 you can supply or sell leftover supplies of single-use plastic straws, cotton buds and drink stirrers until 1 April 2021.

After 3 July 2021, you must not supply drinks products with single-use plastic straws attached to the packaging.

We can all still supply alternatives made from other reusable alternatives.

There are also exemptions to the ban, one of which is that 'catering establishments' can supply single-use plastic straws with food and drink for immediate consumption, but must:

- keep straws where customers cannot see them or help themselves to them
- only give straws to customers that request them

Scraps in the News!

Have you seen the news about Marks & Spencer selling "chip shop scraps" at £1.05 a pot? It's caused quite a debate on social media. It seems the internet is divided – many people love scraps but popular opinion is that they should be free and from a chip shop!

Are you making the most of marketing your scraps (aka scrumps, bits, gribbles or dubs)?

We've heard of a customer who mixes them with mushy peas and sells 'pea crunch'!

- not offer them to customers either verbally or in writing
- A catering establishment is any of these businesses that supply food or drink ready for consumption without further preparation: restaurant/canteen/club/public house/similar establishment including a vehicle or a fixed or mobile stall

SCOTLAND: SINGLE-USE PLASTIC – CONSULTATION LAUNCHED.

The Scottish Government is seeking views on the introduction of new legislation to restrict the sale or commercial supply of plastic plates, plastic straws, plastic cutlery, polystyrene food and drink containers, plastic balloon sticks and products made from oxo-degradable plastics. It is expected that any legislation would be introduced in 2021.

These items were identified in the EU Single Plastics Directive as contributing the majority share of litter found in the marine environment and millions are used in Scotland each year, including an estimated 300 million plastic straws, 276 million pieces of plastic cutlery, 50 million plastic plates and 66 million polystyrene food containers. 'As a supplier of many packaging items into the hospitality sector, we are highly committed to promoting the use of more environmentally friendly alternatives and are working behind the scenes to make sure we comply with legislation, whilst working with manufacturers and the Food Service Packaging Association to be at the forefront of packaging innovation' said Henry Colbeck Purchasing Director Michael Shone.

The consultation will be open for 12 weeks and close on 04 January 2021. To view and take part visit: consult.gov.scot/ zero-waste-delivery/introducing-market-restrictions-on-single-use-plas/

National Fish & Chip Day was seen by 50m people!

Despite the pandemic this year's recent National Fish and Chip Day was deemed a success. Run by NEODA (The National Edible Oil Distributors' Association), who have reported the media numbers were confirmed as nearly 50 million people being reached with a media value of around £1.5 million, so Team Fish & Chips once again came out as clear winners. We were proud to sponsor the event and will be doing so again in 2021 (the date is yet tbc – so watch this space).

Pickled Onions – Better When Battered?

Amandeep Singh wanted a new delicacy for his Codfather café in Cambuslang and decided to try something different and deep-fry the large chip shop style pickled onions he usually sells as a side.

Selling for 50p each or £2 for 5, this latest battered delicacy is described as having thin crispy batter with the crunchy onion in the middle.

Despite only having launched the new menu item in the last weeks or so they have already proven to be a hit with customers. So, whether you sell battered pickled onions or not, the idea has certainly been a winner in terms of press coverage!

WORKING TOGETHER AND MOVING FORWARD AS ONE

As we head into the Winter months and the rougher weather, it is now going to be more important than ever to look for the positives in life. There is a lot of negativity about, people have their own views on the pandemic and the Government's handling of things, and I have seen a lot of disagreements and people on short fuses. We have to remember that other people are not the enemy, we are all just getting through this as best we can, and neither are the Government. It is the virus that is the enemy, and we will come through this in a better shape if we all pull together.

As for fish and chips, we have to count our blessings, as on the whole we can still continue trading in some way,* shape or form, even with restaurants closed or with limited capacity, we are still more fortunate than many. We have a product that is ingrained in the culture of the Nation, that is loved and trusted for its simplicity and comforting taste. We have a network of operators unlike any other industry, connected and organised, able to adapt quickly, and we have flexibility with our portions to hit a price point easily if we need to. There is a wider network of support through our fantastic suppliers who will be there when the time is right to get behind initiatives and ensure fish and chips emerges from this in good shape. We may have a few casualties, but the industry will survive, and it will be in better shape to meet the needs of the modern consumer.

It is easy to feel down, and we will have some challenges ahead, but we are in a much better place than ever to take them on. As we head towards Christmas and the New Year I think we need to focus on reviving that community spirit and making Christmas 2020 one remembered for coming together in the face of adversity and celebrating what is good about the cities, towns and villages that we trade in.

The NFFF will be working hard and providing a voice for the fish and chip industry in the various forums which we are involved in. We hope you have a great festive period, let's hope for a healthy and prosperous 2021. I think we will all be glad to see the back of 2020!
