Welcome!

What's Hot in July & August?

As I write this, Summer is well and truly here and it's been a busy few months for us all.

On 23rd May our Marketing team attended a Sustainable Palm Oil Seminar at The Deep in Hull. We're committed to selling only RSPO certified, segregated, sustainable palm oil and are now sustainable palm oil champions for the Hull & East Yorkshire region. ALL of our Q palm oils are of the highest quality RSPO standards to give you greater peace of mind.

On Monday and Tuesday 22nd and 23rd we passed our BRCGS Global Food Safety Standard Audit and took it to the next level for our Bulk Oil Operation, which moved our standards even higher than the previous 'Storage & Distribution Standard' – a proud moment and one that reflects our values and standards.

On Friday 2nd June NEODA delivered another excellent National Fish & Chip Day, where we were proud to be Joint Headline Sponsors. We were delighted at how much media coverage was given to Fish & Chips – we hope you had a successful day and that it brought in some new customers too!

On Monday 5th June the NFFF announced the opening of the National Fish & Chip Awards 2024. The event was held at Whiteheads in Hornsea, where the 2023 winner of the Fish & Chip Shop of the Year, Geoff Whitehead, hosted the launch with 50 industry partners and sponsors – it was a privilege to attend and see the commitment in the industry to push the event on to even greater things! We'll be sponsoring again in 2024 for sure! It's never been easier to enter and it's all online.

We know that rising prices and availability continue to be a hot topic, especially on potatoes, so we hope pages 6 and 7 give you some ideas on portion control and the 2024 crop.

With potato prices rising, we know that the fall in price in the used cooking oil market has come at a bad time, so we're locking our prices for July and August to give you peace of mind. – see alongside...

Hope you have a great Summer.

Warmest regards,

Paul Holliday

THE CHIP SHOP OSCARS - BE IN IT TO WIN IT!

At Henry Colbeck we've been major sponsors from the start, because we believe in investing in the industry we love and I'm writing to ask you to consider entering your business this year. Driving the message of the quality of fish and chips is so important to its continuing appeal, especially in times where pockets are being squeezed. We've seen the many positive benefits of the awards to those companies that enter and to the wider fish & chip industry too, raising the profile of our national dish, so please think about entering one or more of the award categories.

Why Enter?

- Winning or being a finalist can significantly increase your sales and the value of your business!
- Raise the profile of you and your company.
- Motivate your team – entering the awards is a team sport!
- Champion an Employee of the Year or Young Fish Frier – people are our industry lifeblood.
- Get great free media attention – massive marketing opportunity.

AND IT'S FREE TO ENTER TOO!

Which Awards Are Up For Grabs?

Every business can enter one category from this list (GROUP A)

- Fish & Chip Takeaway of the Year (Operators with up to two outlets)
- Fish & Chip Restaurant of the Year (Any business can enter one of their restaurants)
- Best Multiple Operator of the Year (3 or more outlets judged as a group)
- Best Newcomer Award (Any business that opened after 1st January 2022)

And up to three from the following (GROUP B)

- Environment & Sustainability Award
- Staff Training & Development Award
- From Field to Frier Award
- NFFF Quality Accreditation Champion
- Best Mobile Operator Award (Can operate multiple units)
- Marketing & Innovation Award

There are no category entry limit restrictions from (Group C)

- Drywite Young Fish Frier of the Year (25 years or under)
- Employee of the Year

Who Can Enter?

The Awards are now open to all bona fide fish & chip and foodservice businesses in the United Kingdom, whether you're an NFFF member or not. Some common sense exclusions apply. – please see the entry website.

How Do You Enter?

- Go online and visit thefishandchipawards.com.
- All entrants will be required to complete the online entry form and provide a selection of digital photographs of the business entered and some supporting documentation if/where requested.
- Details of eligibility for different award categories are highlighted in the description section of respective award category entry forms.

Entries opened on 6/6/23 and will close on the 17/09/23.

How Are The Awards Judged?

- For each award category, an industry judging panel, comprising a variety of senior representatives from across the industry, will appraise and score all entries to determine an initial shortlist for each award category. Some categories may have a number of shortlist stages.
- Shortlisted businesses may subsequently receive mystery dining visits or in-house judging visits – such businesses will be assessed by an NFFF appointed assessor who will conduct an un-announced judging of respective premises/outlets, including the mystery tasting/testing of products. There may also be a zoom interview round in some categories.
- These stages will decide the successful businesses in each category that will be invited to attend the finals in London February 2024.

It's never been easier to enter, so why not check out the awards website (thefishandchipawards.com) and give it a go – after all, you've got to be in it to win it! Good Luck!

Georgina

Enter Today!

- Go online to thefishandchipawards.com and complete your entry form(s) - keep it concise but informative and consider using bullet points.
- Make sure you read the rules and answer all the relevant questions.

A WORD FROM THIS YEARS 'FISH & CHIP SHOP WINNER' GEOFF WHITEHEAD

What does the Award mean to you and your team and what you have learnt going through the awards process?

When we started applying for the awards we only had the business for two years; I look back and remember how poor the shop was aesthetically, the quality of the food wasn't great either, and it was stuck in the '50s. That first shop set the benchmark, and our standards had to be raised. This was our 6th attempt at winning - I never gave up hope and knew I had to raise the bar, so I kept trying. I believe the awards help set standards within the industry, and they are high standards of how we want all fish and chip shops and restaurants to operate.

If you enter the awards and don't get through, keep trying; you will keep pushing and pushing to be better than the last time you entered. I want this to be a valuable message – Don't Give Up On Being Better.

The team are still floating on cloud 9, and the majority of the guys that came with us have worked for me for ten years – they can't believe it. We know how each other works and want to strive to move forward and raise the bar. I have a fantastic team; without them, I would not have a business.

How do you think the Award has helped your business progress?

The Award has taken care of the progress of the business; it has catapulted us!

I am more focused than ever before. For anyone out there who wants me to point them in the right direction, I will. It's my passion that standards are raised throughout the industry to get all our shops to the highest standard possible and keep raising the bar. I am full of zest!

The most exciting thing to take away from the Awards, and the greatest pleasure of all, is that no matter how old or young we are, it's just wonderful for your peers to acknowledge your hard work. It's now been acknowledged. After 26 years of being in business, a lot of people have supported me over the years, and their advice has always been adhered to; I have listened to all of it.

Why not enter the awards in 2024 and find out how many benefits it brings to your business - winning is the cherry on top of the cake!

PORTION CONTROL

With high potato prices it's time to focus on chip portion control.

A viewpoint by NFFF Trainer & Owner of Millers @ Haxby, David Miller.

When did you last check your portion sizes - particularly your chips? Did you then check them again a week later for consistency?

With increased potato prices, there is no better time than now to really pull in the reins and focus on the portion control of your chips.

If you're a business owner, your team doesn't have the pressures that you have and when you're awake at night worrying about your business, the rising costs of utilities, wages, raw ingredients and of course VAT they will hopefully be sleeping comfortably. However, to help take the pressure off, know your portion sizes and make sure EVERYONE in your team is trained in giving out the correct portions that you've chosen.

From experience I know that we've all had our profit margins reduced like never before, so there's no better time to act.

DO IT NOW!

During my time working with the NFFF Training Academy, I have been fortunate enough to meet many new people to the industry and those already involved, I have also learnt a lot from other businesses - for which I am truly grateful.

When asked about portion control people's perception is that varied. As an industry we must be more consistent, so that we are all on the same page.

What I would recommend is to make a detailed assessment of your current portion sizes - simply fry your normal portion sizes of Fish and Chips and place them on their regular plate or packaging.

What are your thoughts? Is it too little, just right or too big?

From my own experience I think your thoughts will be that there are too many chips. Now weigh each portion of chips.

I would say by 10oz/285g is around the right weight for a regular portion of chips. If you place another 3-4 chips on, that will rise to 12oz and if you do that 5 times that's a whole portion of chips that your business has given away for FREE, which could have been sold.

Remember what's the biggest seller in a Fish and Chip Shop... it's CHIPS!

Training of staff is 100% vital! Everyone has to be on the same page, so you give a consistent portion size every single time. How big are your chip scoops? Do you use portion control scoops? Also make sure you have a decent set of scales and use them to train everyone in the portion sizes you sell.

We all know that the scales never lie!

Portion control scoops delivering better margins

PREDICTING POTATO PRICES FOR NEXT SEASON!

An invitation from Austen Dack,
Editor @ ChippyChat Magazine.

Potato prices have been rising recently, leaving many shops facing more unbudgeted rising costs. However, this season's prices and the state of the crop were predicted by potato merchant and producer Isle of Ely Produce in September 2022 at their annual FREE chip shop owners/managers open day. This year you're invited to attend their 2023 event to find out more for next year.

Isle of Ely Produce Director Oliver Boutwood said: "Last year we had a perfect storm during the growing season. First off, we had a near drought causing the potatoes to stop growing and therefore producing smaller potatoes is not usually conducive for chipping potatoes, and also a smaller yield. Then we had a few weeks of heavy rain, causing even more problems. Similar conditions across Europe led to Europe-wide potato shortages meant that other markets such as 'crisping' would be stretched too, leading to an even bigger shortage."

The event is open to chip shop owners and managers on Sunday September 10th, 2023 and entry is FREE. The day starts at 9.30 am on their farm in Ely, Cambridgeshire with a coffee and a chance to talk to industry colleagues. Not only will chip shop owners and their teams find out first-hand how the potato crop is faring for 2023/24, but they also get an idea about predicted cost and quality of the crop for the year ahead too. It also showcases the role they play in the National Fish & Chip Awards with their From Field to Frier category. Added to that many of industry suppliers & manufacturers will be attending on the day too.

You will also watch presentations on their giant AV, with full staging, from award winning fish and chip shop owners, giving you valuable advice for your shop(s). Guest speakers for the 2023 event already include NFFF President Andrew Crook, Sarah Heward from the Real Food Café, Calum Richardson from the Bay in Stonehaven plus National Fish & Chip Takeaway of the Year winner Geoff Whitehead from Hornsea. Please email austen@chippychat.co.uk if you would like to attend. Entrance is FREE.

The event is suitable for all levels of management and also young friers too. Maximum of 3 tickets per shop. FREE refreshments will also be served. You can also order your tickets at www.eventbrite.co.uk, and search for Isle of Ely Produce.

WINNING WAYS!

Choosing and designing uniforms for your staff has never been more important. A great-looking uniform should form part of your shop's brand and can make your employees feel like they 'belong' and are proud to represent your company. But it's not just about the aesthetic – safety, function and comfort are also hugely important. To get a better understanding of what's available, and which materials are best suited to Fish & Chip shops, we invited Mark Galley from Banksford, a leading UK provider of uniforms and protective catering wear, to share his expertise!

Mark Galley

“Selecting the right materials for Fish & Chip shop uniforms is crucial to ensure durability and breathability, to provide warmth in cool environments, and also protection against hot oil splatters, batter mixes, flours, and general spillages. By exploring the pros and cons of materials such as polyester, cotton, poly-cotton blends, denim, microfibre, polyurethane-coated fabrics, and oilcloth, you can make an informed decision and be confident you are providing smart, comfortable, and functional uniforms for your staff,” said Mark Galley.

Mark and the team from Banksford were at What's Cooking? 2023 in Harrogate where they showcased a wide range of uniform and protective clothing solutions and were on hand to answer questions and give advice. Mark was happy to provide us with this quick guide to the different materials on offer!

1. Polyester

- PROS: Offers durability, resists wrinkles, and is easy to care for.
- CONS: May lack breathability and warmth compared to other materials.

2. Cotton

- PROS: Known for its breathability, comfort, and natural feel.
- CONS: Can wrinkle easily and may not provide as much protection against spills and splatters.

3. Poly-Cotton Blend

- PROS: Combines the durability of polyester with the breathability of cotton.
- CONS: May not offer as much warmth in cooler environments as other materials.

4. Denim

- PROS: Provides sturdiness, durability, and resistance to spills and splatters, and offers warmth in cooler environments.
- CONS: Can be heavy and less breathable, potentially leading to discomfort during prolonged wear.

5. Microfibre:

- PROS: Lightweight, breathable, and resistant to stains and spills; offers excellent protection against oil splatters.
- CONS: May have reduced durability compared to other materials.

6. Polyurethane-Coated Fabrics:

- PROS: Provides excellent waterproof and stain-resistant properties; effective protection against spills and splatters.
- CONS: Some coated fabrics may have reduced breathability and can feel less comfortable.

7. Oilcloth:

- PROS: Treated with a waterproof and oil-resistant coating, offering excellent protection against splatters.
- CONS: Can be heavier, less breathable, and potentially less flexible during movement.

“Selecting the right materials for fish and chip shop uniforms requires careful consideration of the pros and cons of each option. For example, polyester offers durability, while cotton provides breathability, and poly-cotton blends strike a balance between the two. Denim offers sturdiness and warmth, while microfibre provides lightweight breathability and stain resistance. Polyurethane-coated fabrics and oilcloth excel in offering protection against spills and splatters.

Our staff members are trained to help you through the selection process and can offer useful advice based on your specific needs and the environment you and your staff are working in. By choosing the right uniform material you are ultimately enhancing the working experience for your staff and maintaining a professional image for your business,” said Mark.

We're Prepared for the Single Use Packaging Ban in England – Are you?

From Sunday October 1st the Single Use Packaging Ban comes into force in England and the ban will include: single-use plastic plates, trays, bowls, cutlery, balloon sticks, and certain types of polystyrene cups and food containers.

As a wholesaler of most of these goods, we're as prepared as we can be for the ban, as we have already been delivering in Scotland since their own SUP Ban in June 2022 and have also carried out a great deal of groundwork on sourcing new manufacturers, suppliers and replacement products and investing further into our stockholding levels.

Goodbye Polystyrene – Hello Recyclable Infinity Expanded Polypropylene (EPP), Bio-bagasse Cutlery, Corrugated, Paper Pots and more... The table below shows the products that will be banned and any suggested alternatives.

SOME ADVICE ON HOW TO PREPARE FOR THE BAN

- Identify which SUP items your business uses.
- Ask us about which suitable alternatives we stock.
- Consider upgrading the packaging for your premium selling products.
- Test the alternatives in July / August.
- Start running down stock of goods to be banned well before 1st October '23.
- Start buying the alternatives as soon as you can. (We can't accept any returned stock of goods to be banned from Friday 11th August '23).

If there are any unexpected stock issues we will need to prioritise existing customers who are already buying those goods.
